The board of directors of the association has voted to of the Island Paper Company. accept the money, and Mr. Pearson's salary will be raised to $6,000 from $2,000 by reason of the extra work required to haudle the gunmakers' contribution

Mr. Pearson says he understands the $25,000 has been raised by the Winchester Arms Company, the Remington Arms Company, the Union Metallic Cartridge Company, the Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company and several other like concerns Dr. W. T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological Park, when told of the dein giving his opinion. He disagreed with

Mr. Pearson. He said: "As matters stand at present the Winchester Arms Company and the Remington Arms Company stand with the destroyers of wild life. Their offer to pay out some of their profits to restrict other people in their nefarious game practices will deceiv real lover of wild life. So long as they maintain their present attitude and manufacture the automatic and pump guns unchanged, it is, in my opinion, utterly impossible for any real friend of wild life either to work with them or to accept from them any money contributions whatever

"I regard the declared intention of the Winchester Arms Company to put another automatic shotgun on the market as an open defiance to all wild life protectionists and an outrage to the surviving remnant of wild game. So long as the Winchester Arms Company and the Remington Arms Company manufacture their slaughter guns as they are now doing I will have nothing to do with any movement that they may promote, nor will I work with any man who accepts money from them.

issued a statement last night as follows:

The National Association of Audubon Societies has always been essentially an organization for the protection of song and other non-game birds, and while it has been interested in the protection of game birds and game animals this has been a minor feature of its work. For this reason the association has never taken formal action on certain phases of game protection.

As this new feature of the work is now to be pushed vigorously, new questions will, of course, present themselves, and in accepting funds from the manufacturers of lead, ammunition, guns and other organizations of a similar character the association reserves the right to take any measure at any time against the use of any kind of ammunition or make of gun which it considers to be a serious menace to the wild game. This is clearly set forth in the resolution passed by our board of directors on June 2 upon the acceptance of the proposition to receive $25,000 for game protective work from the manufacturers of rms and ammunition. It is as follows:

"In view of the possible criticism which may be made against the National Association for aceptance of funds from dealers in firearms, it si expressly understood the acceptance of this fund does not commit the National Association to any policy for or against the use of any particular gun, but that said association to any policy for or against the use of any particular gun, but that said association to all have the same freedom of decision on such questions and on all other questions as has heretofore existed." The National Association of Audubon So-tions and on all other questions as has beretofore existed."

Cost and Fixed Charges Must Be Considered.

Union N. Bethell, president of the New York Telephone Company, after a morning on the golf links at Montclair yester the Public Service Commission calling for a reduction of telephone rates in the interborough service of his company.

"I haven't read the official order yet." said Mr. Bethell, "and until the whole matter has been carefully considered I cannot say what will be done with it. The order is most important, and I would rather not discuss it at present. As I understand it from reading the newspapers the Public Service Commission has given the company until June 20 to consider.

Mr. Bethell declined to admit a reas able possibility that the order will be obeyed. His brother, Frank H. Bethell, vice-president of the company, issued the following statement yesterday afternoon: If the company complies with the order

If the company complies with the order of the commission it must at the same time voluntarily reduce rates to Staten Island and to points in New Jersey. Reduction in rates for interborough business and for suburban business generally will add tremendously to the traffic, which, in turn, will require substantial additions to plant and facilities.

Questions which the company must consider are: The amount that must be invested in new plant necessary to handle the increase in traffic and whether its revenues will warrant the reductions called for and the increase in fixed charges and expense incidental to the increase in traffic.

To reduce the rates, as ordered by the commission without making adequate preparations for the proper handling of the increased traffic would bring a degree of chaos and confusion into the service that would practically destrey it.

The company likes to comply with all orders affecting it issued by the Public Service Commission. This particular order, however, is of such importance that it must be carefully considered before the action which the company might take can be determined.

ness would be increased by a reduction of the rates, but the profit might be wiped done, on account of extra cost of operation. The reduction we are asked to make would mean a loss of at least $1,000,000 annually

Mr. Bethell went on to say that the tele phone company had no "intangible" assets kind, and that, although it was taxed by the state on the basis of $30,000,000, which is the value of its special franchise, this was not listed as an asset under any valuation by the company. "We have him right," said George Dougherty, the Second Deputy Police Commissioner, who has been giving his personal attention continuously to the case. "It looks five times better for us to-day than it did yesterday, and we were pretty well satisfled with the way it looked then.

It developed that one witness by whom the police set much store was Elleen Mc-Cumble, a six-year-old child, living at No. 508 East 79th street. Can you afford the time to call at the factory, if by so doing you actually save $50. or possibly $100. on your piano?

Francis Bacon PIANOS

Player Pianos

These famous old pianos, established in 1789 and recognized by musical critics everywhere for five successive generations as standard high grade instruments, will be sold for the present DIRECT FROM THE FACTORY at a slight advance over wholesale prices.

Call at the factory (and see for yourself how the piano is made) or telephone (897 Melrose), of write for catalogue and prices, but do not fail to acquaint yourself with this proposition before being persuaded to buy any other piano.
